

SEARCH IS BEING MADE FOR MISS HAZEL WHITE WHO HAS DISAPPEARED

JANESVILLE YOUNG LADY MISSING IN CHICAGO AND AUTHORITIES SEEK FOR INFORMATION.

MAY BE IN MILWAUKEE

Parents Believe She Has Eloped With Young Man Named Dragg Who Formerly Worked Here—Much Mystery Surrounds Whole Affair.

Mystery surrounds the alleged disappearance of Miss Hazel White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, 508 South Main street, who last left her home four weeks ago, Monday, and who has disappeared from the Y. W. C. A. building at Chicago, where she had been employed as a stenographer, according to dispatches received here this morning.

Since leaving her home a month ago for a destination which was unknown to her parents, word has been received from her that she was staying in Chicago, and about two weeks ago they received word from the Y. W. C. A. authorities that Miss White had left the building at that time they knew nothing of her at present.

From this it is evident that Miss White has been missing for a period of two weeks or over, during which time her relatives have known nothing of her whereabouts, and authorities in Chicago have been equally in the dark.

Man In The Case. According to the opinion of both Mr. and Mrs. White, their daughter left their home on account of a young man, Arthur Dragg, who had roomed at their residence for some time, and who paid attention to Miss White, and who, it was known to them, not with favor in her sight without their approval.

Although they had no exact information which would believe them to suspect an elopement, and to their knowledge their daughter and the young man in question, had not met during the past summer at their home, at least, still, they declared that they had reason to believe that Mr. Dragg was in some way, whether directly or indirectly, responsible for her leaving home, if not for her alleged disappearance.

Had Little Money. Miss White is a very attractive appearing young woman, about twenty-two years of age, rather tall and dark with regular features. She has always made her home with her parents, who took up their residence in this city about two years ago, moving here from a farm in the vicinity of Edgerton. Miss White is a graduate of the Edgerton high school, and had never occupied any position, having remained with her parents. She did not have a very large amount of money when she left the city and unless she has secured some sort of employment, must be depending upon some one else for her support.

Regard Mr. Dragg, it was stated that both Mr. and Mrs. White had given him to understand that he was not welcome at their home as a suitor of their daughter, which met Miss White's disapproval. He came about a year ago last July, to this country from London, England, and later to this city where he had been referred to William Bladon who had been an intimate acquaintance with Mrs. Dragg in England.

Not Welcome. Dragg held several positions with various firms in this city, and finally, through the influence of Mr. Bladon and a friend of his father in Chicago, he had secured a responsible position with the firm of Marshall Field and Company, a month ago, or more. Word received here by Mr. Bladon had indicated that Dragg was successfully filling the position and as far as he knew was still holding his place.

Arrested in Milwaukee. However, Mr. White stated today that he was of the belief that Dragg was the very man who was arrested in Milwaukee the fore part of the week, and charged with attempting to sell a lady's watch and other jewelry on the suspicion of being a thief, an account of which, with a description of the man and the watch, were published in the Gazette. The name given by the suspect was "Walter Delahed," who declared the articles were given him by a lady friend. His sentence, according to word received here from the Milwaukee police, was for thirty days in the House of Correction. It was known to the girl's parents that Dragg had possession of her watch.

MEXICAN REBELS IN FOUR PROVINCES TO RESIST AUTHORITY

IF PEKING IS ATTACKED IT WILL BE SURRENDERED TO REBELS.

OLD GOVERNMENT GONE

Canton Declares For New State of Affairs—Foreigners Safe But Much Confusion.

Peking, Nov. 9.—The excitement is increasing tonight and the legations consider all hope for the Manchurian dynasty has vanished. Acting Premier Chang said if the revolutionists attack the city the Manchus would surrender everything excepting their lives.

Is Serious. Shanghai, Nov. 9.—The situation is becoming increasingly serious and the imperial government has absolutely disappeared. The foreign consuls are unable to recognize the self-constituted government officially.

At Nanking. Nanking, Nov. 9.—An opposing army has been ordered to attack the city. The revolutionists have a thousand killed and wounded. All the foreigners are safe.

Canton Free. Hong Kong, Nov. 9.—Canton, the largest city in China, declared its independence today and the dragon flag was lowered and a salute in honor of the new government was fired.

Are Jealous. Shanghai, Nov. 9.—Because of their jealousy of one another and quarrels which threatened disaster within the ranks of the rebel army at Chungking, General Chen and Tseung were killed by their own men today.

Shot and Beheaded. A committee of influential subordinates held a conference and decided that the quarrelling generals must die. Two details of men were dispatched to the doomed officers' quarters and they were shot and beheaded.

At Nanking. Telegraphic communication with Nanking, which was seized by the rebels yesterday, is interrupted. At last accounts fighting was still in progress with several hundred killed.

May Seize Port. A rebel seizure of Tien Tsen, the port of Peking, is expected today. Members of the large foreign colony have been notified they have nothing to fear.

Have Broken Off Negotiations. Having broken off negotiations with Yuan Kai Shih, General Li Yuan Hung, the Chinese rebel leader, is reported marching on Peking today at the head of his forces.

Smuggled Away. Peking, Nov. 9.—The Emperor of China has fled Peking, it is stated here today on the authority of a palace eunuch whose information has hitherto proved reliable. His story is that the dowager empress accompanied child ruler and that they were smuggled away in a peasant's cart.

Capture Taken. London, Eng., Nov. 9.—Then Tsen went over to the rebels last night, according to a message received here today from the Times' Peking correspondent. Other cables say that today the rebels posted notices announcing their intention of taking possession of the city before nightfall.

KING AND QUEEN TO START FOR DURBAR

PREPARATIONS FOR VOYAGE TO INDIA HAVE PRACTICALLY BEEN COMPLETED.

SET SAIL THIS WEEK

English Sovereign And His Wife Will Occupy Palatial Suites on the Steamship Medina.

London, Nov. 9.—After several months of strenuous work, accompanied by a tremendous expenditure of money and energy, the preparations for the voyage of King George and Queen Mary to the coronation Durbar at Delhi are practically completed. Their Majesties, accompanied by a large suite, will sail this week on the Peninsular & Oriental liner Medina, which has been especially chartered for this purpose and, for the time of the journey, converted into an auxiliary of the British navy.

The Medina, 20,000 tons, is the newest and best equipped liner of the P. & O. company and, has been completely remodeled and re-equipped for this voyage. The ship will be under the command of Capt. Chatfield, Flag Captain of the Royal Admiral Sir Colin Campbell, and will be manned and officered by the pick of the British navy. Four first-class cruisers, including the Cochrane and the Defence, will form the convoy.

The royal suites of cabins are on the spar deck at the forward part of the vessel, the King's being on the port side, the Queen's on the starboard. Each suite comprises a sitting room, a bedroom, a small dressing room, and a bathroom. Both suites are paneled in white throughout, but whereas the carpets and upholstery in the King's apartments are carried out in shades of blue, the Queen's are in green. The furniture in the King's sitting room is of mahogany inlaid, and consists of two writing tables, a bookcase, several small tables and a number of sofas and easy chairs covered in blue silk. Adjoining is the King's bedroom which is fitted with a wardrobe and chest of drawers in inlaid mahogany. A small metal bedstead occupies one corner, while in the other corner is a swinging cot, the invention of a London society woman, for use in very rough weather. The dressing room is on suite and both it and the bedroom are upholstered in blue and white, with carpets and curtains to match.

The Queen's sitting room furniture, which is all of inlaid satinwood, comprises especially designed writing tables, bookcases, cabinet, etc., with sofas and easy chairs upholstered and covered with green and white striped silk. Carpet and curtains match the furniture in color. The bedroom and dressing room of the Queen is furnished beautifully in satinwood and carpets, hangings and curtains carry out the color scheme of green and white.

Ample accommodations are provided in different parts of the ship for the distinguished members of the royal suite and the numerous attendants. The household suite of their Majesties will include the Duchess of Devonshire, Mistress of the Robes; Lady Ampthill, one of the Ladies of the Bedchamber; the Duke of Teck, elder surviving brother of the Queen, personal Aide-de-Camp to the King and Lieutenant Colonel of the First Life Guards; the Earl of Shaftesbury, Lord Chamberlain to the Queen; the Earl of Chesterfield, Lord Steward of his Majesty's household; the Earl of Shrewsbury, premier Earl of England and a great friend of the King; Lord Stanforth, private secretary to the King; Lieut. Col. Sir Frederick Ponsonby, equerry and assistant private secretary to the King; Commander Sir Charles Cust, equerry to the King; Sir Edward Henry, Commissioner of Metropolitan Police, who was recently appointed extra equerry to the King, and Lieut. Col. Sir R. Havelock Charles, Surgeon-General to the King and principal medical officer on the staff of the King and Queen during the visit to India.

The journey will be broken by two stops, one at Malta and the other at Aden. The ultimate port is Bombay and the arrival there is scheduled for December 2. The day of their Majesties' disembarkation will be one of addresses, processions, receptions and banquets, ending with a grand illumination.

During the entire sojourn, the King will remain in constant communication with London by means of a powerful wireless apparatus installed on the Medina. Everything has been done to insure the safety of the King and the Queen, not only on board ship, but during their sojourn in India. The great coronation Durbar, which will be held in Delhi on December 12, is expected to surpass all previous durbars in magnitude, gorgeousness and attendance, as this is the first time in history that the British rulers will present themselves in person to receive the homage of their people in India. There will be magnificent ceremonies and festivities following the investiture on December 14. Early in January a Court will be held in Calcutta, and by the end of that month the King and Queen are expected back in England again.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL DEDICATED TODAY

WITH DUE CEREMONY

President Taft Delivered Most Appropriate Address at the Exercises.

Hodgenville, Ky., Nov. 9.—The Lincoln Memorial hall was dedicated today. The memorial which President Taft today received in behalf of the nation, is a granite building and encloses the cabin in which Lincoln was born. The Lincoln farm now becomes a national park.

Folk's Talk. Joseph W. Folk declared of the Lincoln memorial that it is a testimony that the fires of fraternal hatred kindled by the three conflict a half century ago are dead, and from the ashes have arisen the red rose patriotism for a common country and devoted to a common day.

The Taft dedication address was noted for its appropriateness. The memorial on the Lincoln farm sketched the life of Lincoln step by step until he finally reached the presidency. The difficulties and triumphs he met there were reviewed.

The cornerstone for the memorial was laid by President Roosevelt on the centennial anniversary of Lincoln's birth two years ago just February. At the dedication today President Taft was the central figure. The exercises were held at the Thomas Lincoln farm, which was purchased by the Lincoln Farm Association several years ago with a fund raised by popular subscription. After acquiring the property the association proceeded with the erection of the memorial building to protect for all time the lowly cabin in which the martyr President was born.

The memorial stands on a slight elevation where stood the original Lincoln home. Some years ago the cabin was removed for exhibition purposes, but was restored to the original site when it came into possession of the Lincoln Farm Association.

The memorial building is an imposing structure of white stone. It is of classic design, with plant pillars ornamenting the front and two sides. The entrance is approached by a broad flight of terraced steps. Considering the fact that the civil war, of which Lincoln himself was the central figure, was fought out only half a century ago, it is regarded as of especial significance that the dedication of a memorial in his honor should be an event of such distinct national interest and national proportions.

Foremost among the members of the committee acting as personal escort to the President from the station in Hodgenville to the scene of the day's ceremonies were Gen. Basil Duke, representing one of the foremost Kentucky families that fought for the Confederacy, and Gen. John H. Castleman, who entered the Confederate States Army at the age of 19 and won his spurs as a member of Morgan's cavalry. The military escort to the President was furnished by Company A of the First Regiment of the Kentucky National Guard, in command of Gen. Roger Williams.

The dedication exercises were of a simple but very impressive character. In addition to President Taft the speakers and prominent participants included Henry Waterson, who delivered one of the principal orations, Governor Augustus B. Wilson, representing the State of Kentucky, and Robert J. Collier, who inaugurated the Lincoln Farm movement.

WOULD REORGANIZE CITY GOVERNMENT

VAGABOND WRITES GAZETTE AN OPEN LETTER ON CIVIC AFFAIRS.

CITES MANY INSTANCES

Where City Money Could be Expended With Far Better Results and Less Waste.

To the Editor: As long as Janesville has the present system of ward politics, just so long will the spoils system, the plan for retribution, exist. Just as long as the aldermen, elected to represent various wards of the city, continue to be elected and trade votes for various improvements, just so long will the city's money be wasted.

Every two years the city elects a mayor. What does he amount to in reality? Has he any power or authority that the council can not take away? Can he order the liquor shops closed on Sunday and see that they are closed and closed tight? Can he authorize the building of streets or repairing of others?

His sole power lies in the fact that in case of a tie in the council he can decide the matter, one way or the other. He can preside over the council meetings, try to preserve order and be a figurehead.

I mean no disrespect to our present chief executive. I believe he is an honest, trustworthy city official, but his power is limited. He is grievously handicapped by the present system of municipal government. He is without any real power or authority.

What Janesville needs is a change in form of government. The recent disgusting discussion of the Washington street repairs is enough to turn the stomach of any self-respecting citizen. Here a street that is the main thoroughfare of the city—the last road traveled by our dead, and yet it is allowed to remain in almost unpassable condition owing to petty jealousy.

I am not fighting the rights and wrongs of the various contentions of the aldermen who voted for and against repairing this street, but I am stating the bald facts, its present condition is a disgrace to the city government, not only to the city but to every taxpayer.

The Gazette suggested editorially that it be treated as the government does its highways, that it is really the major part of the land, farm land that does not yield as much as it did formerly and cement gutters should not be ordered. While not discussing this question, still something should be done this fall and done at once.

There is hardly a council meeting called to order that before it ends the rival factions are in not demonstrative, but in individual, individual, are good, honest men, but when taken collectively they appear to think that it is their duty to hold up the city's money to the fact that there are serious leaks, rather than where the city's money is being poured, the worth of work for every dollar expended.

The spoils system will always be present as long as the individual alderman must depend upon his constituents for their support at the elections. Money is not doing the city any good and the sooner the citizens of Janesville awake to the fact that there are serious leaks, rather than where the city's money is being poured, the worth of work for every dollar expended.

This is not fair to the average taxpayer, no matter where he lives. This spirit of bartering votes and influence is not doing the city any good and the sooner the citizens of Janesville awake to the fact that there are serious leaks, rather than where the city's money is being poured, the worth of work for every dollar expended.

The spoils system will always be present as long as the individual alderman must depend upon his constituents for their support at the elections. Money is not doing the city any good and the sooner the citizens of Janesville awake to the fact that there are serious leaks, rather than where the city's money is being poured, the worth of work for every dollar expended.

Right on top of all this the city is discussing buying the water works. While municipal ownership of public utilities is perhaps a good thing, a saving in the end for the people, still under the existing form of government it would be a mistake.

Think of the naming of a man who has had no experience, whose only qualification is that he can deliver votes on election day, as head of the municipal water plant? If the city is really in earnest about the purchase of the water company they should first reform the city government.

The state of Wisconsin has passed laws regarding cities of the second and third class, however incorporated, by which they may adopt what is known as the commission form of government. This subject was discussed here two years ago and rejected on the grounds the recall of poor officials was needed to make it perfect. Since then this feature has been added so that it would appear that the law is better perfect. Why not adopt it?

Certainly conditions can not be much worse than they are now. The condition of our streets, for one thing, would be vastly improved, if but three men decided on what was to be done and not ten. The management of our police and fire departments would be vastly improved if three, not ten, men could decide the policy to be followed.

There would be no question of honor or apparatus in the fire department, no questioning of the power of the chief of police to close saloons according to law, if three men, not ten, dictated the orders. The city would save money if good and efficient men were chosen for offices at the expense of the city, if three men could decide upon their fitness, without fear of retaliation at the polls.

It is the small taxpayer who would be benefited by the change. The large taxpayer is usually able to defend himself by his position in the community. The city would be managed on a business basis by business men who would forget ward lines and work for the good of the whole community.

This is a plain talk on a subject of vital importance to the city and should not be lost sight of. It is a subject which you hear discussed daily on the streets and I have put it in cold type for all to read and think over.

LINK AND PIN. HALF AND HALF IS TAKEN FROM SERVICE

Switch Engine That Formerly Worked from 1 P. M. Until Midnight Has Been Discontinued.

Notification was received this morning that hereafter the "half and half" or in other words the switch engine that was employed from one o'clock in the afternoon until midnight, would be discontinued. This engine and crew were employed on the belt line, and for switching purposes down town and was thought to be a permanent affair. The engine was in charge of Engineer Yates and Fireman Davey, and the switchmen were Erdmann and Burns. This will make the work of 685 a little heavier and will probably mean considerable more work for the other switch engines and crews.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR MILWAUKEE OFFICIALS

Officials of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Pass Through Here Today About Noon.

E. W. McKinnon, Vice-President of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, and manager of the Operation and Construction department, and D. L. Bush, General Manager of the operating department, with several members of the railroad rate commission, came to Janesville this morning on a special car, on train 131, arriving here at 1:35, and transferred here to a special train which left about 11:15 over the Mineral Point Division.

W. J. Underwood, of Milwaukee, division superintendent of the Mineral Point Division met the party here and left with them. The party here and left with them. The party here and left with them. The party here and left with them.

Months during the past few months that the officials have been here, and have displayed unusual interest in the Mineral Point Division. It is thought they are intending to expend a considerable sum to put the track and various stations, etc., into better condition.

The railroad rate commission being with the members of the party today is also significant, as many complaints have been raised by different people along the above division and they demand better service at these points. The lack of competition along the Mineral Point division is the chief cause of the seemingly apparent neglect upon the part of the company, and it is thought that the railroad rate commission will demand that the company improve the conditions that have existed at this particular point.

Engineer Higgins and Fireman Loyel McCallie, with engine 559, were ordered to take the special train over the Mineral Point division about 11:30 this morning, carrying the officials of the road. The train was composed of the engine and two cars.

Engine Higgins and Fireman Loyel took engine 1758 out this morning as an extra at 1:15. Engineer Dempsey and Fireman McDougall took out 162 this morning at 11:15.

Conductor Perry is on the helper engine this morning, working south.

Another Helper Installed: Another helper engine or "pusher" has been installed to help the various heavy freight trains over the grade between here and Clinton Junction. The distances between here and Clinton Junction is about fourteen miles and the climb is quite arduous, and with the extra large freight trains that are passing through here for Chicago and other points south, the work of the pusher is much welcomed.

Switchman Church resumed work this morning after being detained from his duties at the bell line for several days on account of illness.

MISERY FROM INDIGESTION, OR A SICK, SOUR, GASSY STOMACH

A Little Diapiesal makes your out-of-order Stomach feel fine in five minutes.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapiesal.

If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a Little Diapiesal occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the

STATE GAME WARDEN WILL RE-ORGANIZE SERVICE IN STATE

His Object Is To Standardize the Service and Remove Difficulties of Department.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—The reorganization of the Wisconsin fish and game department has been undertaken by State Game Warden John A. Sholtz, with the object of standardizing the service and removing many of the special difficulties that beset this department in its hard field. His aim, says Warden Sholtz, is "to secure the highest possible degree of efficiency for the department as a whole and to encourage individual members in their desire to contribute their best efforts to that end."

In the past the remedy for inefficient or insufficient service by deputies was removal. In the future, however, through promotion and increase in salary, will be held up as an incentive for careful, honest and effective work. Mr. Sholtz' plan of organization is approved by the governor and was prepared in co-operation with the civil service commission.

The plan contemplates that each deputy warden shall render service for which he is best adapted by training and experience. The force of deputies will consist of three separate divisions. Class 1 includes deputies for only water service, subdivided for service on Lakes Michigan and Superior and the Mississippi river, and is not to exceed eight permanent positions. The beginning salary, after appointment by the merit system, will be $3 per day. By promotion after six months' service, based upon approved competitive examination tests and records of efficiency, the salary is $3.50 per day. By promotion after one year or more of service, based upon approved tests and efficiency records, the department will offer two positions at $4 per day.

The next class comprises deputies for transportation work. The beginning salary for men without experience with railroad or express companies, but qualified for inland service, will be $2.50 per day. In the next division will be not more than six positions for men selected according to merit and fitness in open competitive, promotional examination, at $3 per day. The next division in this class contains not more than two positions, to be filled by promotional examination, after six months' or more experience, at $4 per day.

The third class under the new plan embraces positions for inland warden service. The beginning salary for men selected by competitive examination is $2.50 per day. By promotion after six months' service, after the usual examinations, the increase will reach $3 per day. The next promotion will mean a salary of $3.50 per day.

Supervising wardens comprise Class 4. This position is open to members of all classes of the service, based upon advanced competitive tests and efficiency records, after six months' experience, with a per diem of $1.

There are four positions in this class. The civil service commission will hold a competitive, promotional examination in July or August of each year, to which all wardens in the two lowest subdivisions of all three classes will be admitted. Wardens who stand high at any quality in these tests will be advanced to all vacancies in the higher subdivisions. In making up efficiency records the following will be taken into consideration: Faithful and continual service, careful and reliable weekly and monthly reports, prompt and intelligent compliance with orders, the success with which a deputy warden develops in his community a sentiment in favor of the enforcement of the fish and game laws, and fair and impartial enforcement of laws. The number of wise arrests will be set over against any unwise, trivial and hasty acts tending to discredit the department with the better element of the community.

The state game warden proposes also to hold a school for deputies immediately before the general promotional examination is held, and technical and administrative problems will be discussed. Experts in fish and game protection will be present.

"It is not my intention," says Mr. Sholtz, "to reduce wages now allowed a warden, except for cause, and, while some of the wardens now receiving $3 per day appear in Class C, it is believed that before another examination is held such wardens will show by more efficient work that they are entitled to enter a higher class and be justly entitled to $3 per day or more."

The records of this office will be kept so as to give each warden all that he is justly entitled to receive, and are always open to examination by the wardens and the public.

The plan outlined is not to be an iron-clad one and is subject to changes and modifications, as this effort is entirely new.

Homey Sitter.

"I don't know what to do about this portrait," said the artist. "Can't you get the likeness?" "Oh, yes. But I'm doubtful about how far to go. If I don't make it look like him the critics will roast it, and if I do he'll refuse to pay for it."

ABBOTT SALOON TILL TAPPED BY BURGLAR

Manager to Slip Into Place Through Back Door Just Before Place Was Locked for Night.

By using the same method recently employed by thieves who robbed the Van Houtter & Dalton saloon, a burglar was able to gain entrance to the saloon of Tom Abbott on South Main street Monday night and make away with $25 in cash. It seems that he slipped in through the back door just before the saloon was closed for the night. No articles other than the money was missing and there are no clues to the thief. There is some probability that both the robberies mentioned were committed by the same party or parties.

BEN'S HUNK O' KINDNESS GETS HIM INTO TROUBLE!

BY HERRMANN

SPORT
WISCONSIN TEAM IS BEING TESTED OUTFormer Varsity Players Return to Madison to Aid in Coaching.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—The varsity was put to a severe test by both the scrubs and the freshmen in yesterday afternoon's secret practice, playing the scrubs to a 9 to 0 tie and bowling to a 6 to 0 score. The two games gave opportunity to try out new plays. Germany Schultz, as usual, assisted the staff coaches in developing the line into a better working machine. "Jimmy" Bush, '09, is back in town to give a helping hand in this direction but had not appeared on the field at yesterday's drill. Practice will be secret daily from now on.

According to former Captain Jack Wiley, now on the athletic staff, Chester Brewer, '06, William J. Johnson, '01, Dr. Joseph Dean, Joseph Fogg and other football stars of other days will have a hand in whipping the team into shape to meet the Gophers.

BIG FIVE WAITING
SATURDAY'S GAMES

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

New York, Nov. 9.—Every football team of the Big Five in the east is looking forward to a hard fight next Saturday. In every case the outcome is doubtful and beginning today the coaches began putting their squads through tight practice. Yale meets Brown, the latter evidently fully recovered from the slump sustained at the time of the Harvard game. At Princeton, the Orange and Black must face Dartmouth, always troublesome. Harvard's lot is the Indians, stronger than they have been in years. Cornell will line up against Michigan, while aggressive La Fayette will descend on the wabbling University of Pennsylvania.

IS TENDERED SURPRISE BY HIS FRIENDS LAST NIGHT
Last evening Master Rush A. Berg was pleasantly surprised at his home, 218 Pease Court by a party of some of his schoolmates. The evening was spent in games and music after which refreshments were served.

Missouri State Teachers.

Hannibal, Mo., Nov. 9.—Hannibal capitulated today to an army of teachers who invaded the city from every direction for the annual convention of the Missouri State Teachers' Association. The visitors will remain in the city until the end of the week. The program provides for general sessions each morning and evening with numerous department conferences in the afternoon. Mr. John W. Withers of St. Louis is president and among the distinguished educators on the program for addresses are President A. Ross Hill of the University of Missouri, Prof. Frank McMurtry of Columbia University, Prof. Charles H. Judd of the University of Chicago, Prof. L. H. Bailey of Cornell University, Prof. W. C. Bagley of the University of Illinois, and John S. Collins, assistant superintendent of instruction of St. Louis.

Another Panama Trip.

New York, Nov. 9.—Nearly a score of members of the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives, departed today on a three weeks' junk to Panama and Cuba. At the latitudes the congressmen will inspect the progress of work on the canal and fortifications. On the way home they will stop at Havana with a view to determining the advisability of further appropriations to raise the wreck of the Maine.

MILTON POST HELD
ANNUAL CAMPFIREHamilton Post and Relief Corps Enjoyed Delightful Gathering at Hall Last Night—Other News.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, Nov. 9.—1861-1911—The annual campfire of A. D. Hamilton Post and Relief Corps was held in the village hall last evening and was accorded a liberal patronage. An excellent supper was served from 5 to 7, after which the following program was presented:

Invocation.
Song—"Boys of the Old Brigade."
Duet, "Home to Our Mountains" Verdi.
Reading—"The Man Who Died Alone."
Duet—"Freedom's Glorious Flag."
Play Skit—"Pupils of Public School."
Recitation—"The W. R. C. from the Standpoint of a Little Girl."
Duet—"The W. R. C. from the Standpoint of a Little Girl."
Address—"Education of the People in Patriotism," Prof. H. C. Buell, of Janesville, Wis.
Closing with the singing of "America" by the quartette, the audience joining.

All who took part did well and the address by Prof. Buell was one of the most instructive and inspiring that a Milton audience has listened to in many a day, receiving universal commendation. Our citizens hope to have the pleasure of hearing this scholarly gentleman again. A pleasant addition to the program was a vocal duet by Messrs. Root and Hurley.

The first meeting of the Latin club held last Thursday evening was quite successful. The attendance was good, there being several high school students present besides the Latin students of the college. After a speech and a verse complimentary to the Latin teachers by the president of the club, the Roman Life class furnished two orders, a talk by E. J. McKenney on the education of the Romans and another by J. N. Daland on the Roman house. The Latin male quartette rendered one selection which was much appreciated. The club intends to raise one hundred dollars this year to furnish a part of the endowment for the Latin League of Wisconsin.

Personal.
Miss Alberta Crandall is visiting Chicago friends.
Mrs. N. P. Nelson and daughter go to Sheboygan Falls tomorrow to visit Prof. Hurley and wife.

Mrs. W. H. Crosby, president of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs, will speak at Milton Junction M. E. church Friday afternoon.
The newly elected officers of the Promen's Band are: Manager, R. H. Saunders; assistant manager, P. F. Garthwaite; secretary, J. S. Nelson; treasurer, P. J. Crandall; librarian, D. A. Babcock.

At the close of the evangelistic service Friday night the ordinance of baptism will be administered. A collection will be taken to finish paying for the revival books.

J. C. Anderson sold some fine Wyandotte pullets to Conductor H. P. Durbin of Milwaukee, yesterday.
Dr. A. L. Burdick of Janesville took Alexander Dulant, son of President W. C. Daland, to the Hutchinson hospital, Chicago, today for an operation on an abscess in his head.

Dr. A. W. Kelley attended the District Convention of Odd Fellows at Orlinda last evening.

Principal Whitford and Misses Tuffley, Stinson, Dutton, Mitchell, Currier, Goodrich and Cole are attending the state teachers' convention and their pupils are heartily enjoying their vacation of two days.

The bi-monthly meeting of the trustees of Milton college was held last evening and usual routine business transacted.

Mrs. L. A. Rogers has returned from her visit with Iowa relatives.
R. H. Thomas, who has been in western Minnesota for some time, is at home again.

W. C. T. U. meets with Mrs. H. R. Osborn Tuesday afternoon. "Echoes From the State and National Conventions" will be the program.
Annual chicken pie supper at the Congregational church Wednesday, December 6.

Roy Cary was a recent Milton visitor.

Rev. Dr. Randolph lectured at North Johnstown last evening.
Mrs. R. B. Thomas has returned from her visit at Battle Creek, Mich.

A NEW NUT CRACKER

Shell Is Crushed Between Two Blender Parallel Bars.

Now that nut season is here, with Halloween just around the corner, styles in nut crackers are just as up-to-date as styles in hats and gowns. The cut shows a New York style, having been designed by a New York man, and is said to have the virtue of cracking a nut without crushing it into an almost inseparable mass of meat and shell. At one end of the slender bar is a stump on which a shorter bar with a curved end is pivoted. The two bars stand parallel to each other, and a rod extending at right angles from the short one passes through a hole in the long one and is attached to a handle, which also operates on a pivotal connection near the center. The inside edges of the crushing bars are notched to afford a firm grip on the nut, which is placed somewhere between the two. The handle is then squeezed and the shell of the nut cracked. A spring spreads the bars apart again when the pressure is released.

DOES NOT MARSH THE MEAT.

At The Theatre

"Paid in Full"

When a play not grips the heart strings but plays an intermezzo on the tender cords, it bears the hall mark of a great success. It is not surprising, therefore, that the "Paid in Full" has made an appeal which has been heeded. Eugene Walter actually lived the play. He breathes his existence into it. It is almost unnecessary to say at the very beginning that the play is not a sweetmeat. It is very strong food, and should only be taken by those who wish to harrow their very souls by a chapter from the lives of everyday people who are smothering the world's tragedy of existence where sin is not so glorified that we are blinded by the glitter. It is the story of a sullen, vicious, resentful husband who has become so embittered in the daily grind that every spark of manhood and honor has been wiped out. He finally sacrifices his wife to smother her. If possible, with his employer's theft. The very goodness and innocence of the wife is her most of foetive shield.

With a powerful cast of players, "Paid in Full" will be submitted for your approval at Myers Theatre, Saturday Nov. 11. Matinee and evening.

Dockstader's Minstrels.

The irrepressible Nell O'Brien, the well known blackhead comedian with Low Dockstader's Great Minstrels, which will appear at Myers Theatre Wednesday, Nov. 15, will be seen in a sketch this season called "Reforming The Force", which is said to be the funniest thing that he has ever done. O'Brien is one of the best comedians who has ever been connected with a minstrel organization, and his funny little confidences to his audience and his grotesque mannerisms mark him an originator.

THE BALANCE OF TRADE.

"If all the various elements of national credit and debt unknown to the custom-house accounts were combined they would almost make those accounts, vast as they are, look trivial by comparison. The Immigration Commissioners have estimated that in a single recent year no less than $275,000,000 were taken or sent abroad from the United States by emigrants, and through agencies unknown to either the custom-house, the regular bankers, the Comptroller of the Currency, or the Treasurer of the United States.

"We import a million of immigrants per annum. If each person was provided with only a month's support after landing it would amount to 25 or 30 millions. In all probability they bring many times as much, no account of which appears in the custom house books.

"We ship abroad each year a quarter of a million cabin passengers provided with at least a thousand dollars each. Part of these 250 millions goes out through the regular channels in the form of bills of exchange; the balance, probably half of it, in money, and a large proportion in foreign money, which travels up and down the ocean without the least recognition in the imaginary balance of trade.

"Do our Washington scoundrels know how many millions, how many hundreds of millions of stocks and bonds go out of Wall Street every year to London, Paris and Berlin, or how many return, without a single dollar's worth being registered at the custom house?"

"The balance of trade may or may not be in our favor, but inferences drawn from the custom house figures are not worth five minutes' serious consideration."

"So many people are of the opinion that the balance of trade is determined by the custom house that the Wall Street Journal attempts to disabuse their minds for this outlining sources of revenue and disbursement which are not of record. While our export trade is greater today than at any time in history, our individual resources are also greater, and we are liberal spenders, both at home and abroad.

"The revolutions now going on in the old world put to blush the history of the dark ages for deeds of atrocity. The Red Cross workers are ignored, and women and children are slaughtered without mercy. The boxer riots were nothing compared to the present uprising. Conditions in Tripoli are not much better. The work of civilization is still in its infancy in these benighted lands.

"The defeat of the debauched party in New Jersey puts Woodrow Wilson out of the running for president. Champ Clark is still in the limelight, but he talks too much, and Harmon seems to be the most promising candidate. If the nation is to have four years of democracy the leaders should bring out a level-headed conservative, and this will doubtless be done.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

So much ignorance prevails concerning the Boy Scout movement that the following dispatch from the national headquarters in New York, will be of interest:

"Showing that every state and territory in the United States is represented by the Boy Scouts of America the national headquarters of the organization here is displaying a map which enables the visitor to see at a glance the tremendous spread of the boy scout movement throughout the country. The map is 12 feet long and 5 feet deep. On it green pins have been placed to mark every village, town and city that has a troop of boy scouts. On the same map is marked the number of troops in that locality. There are 127 red pins scattered over the map showing the scout commissioners, and 228 blue pins showing what cities have local councils, supervising the activities of the boy scouts.

"The map shows that there are over 5,000 scout masters in the United States. In addition there are 100 applications pending from men who wish to become scout masters. New York state is almost a solid green because there are 582 scout masters and 65 assistant scout masters. Of this number there are about 100 troops in Manhattan and about 50 in Brooklyn. In addition, New York state has about 20 local councils, and as many scout commissioners.

Every state in the Union is represented, as well as our new possessions in the far east. The local troop is a part of this great organization and every effort should be made to promote its welfare. The columns of the Gazette are open to the officers of the troop, or to any others who are interested in the work, and who desire to arouse public sentiment in its favor.

A HERO OF THE AUSTIN FLOOD.

A special staff correspondent of the Cleveland Press of October 4 sent his paper this incident connected with the bursting of the dam:

Maudie, a powerful black mare, deserves a hero model for lifesaving at the Austin deluge, and Lewis Ryan, sixty-five, her driver, whose life she saved, is going to pin it on her, figuratively, by making the rest of her life easy and luxury.

When the dam broke, Ryan was loading his two-wheeled truck, to which Maudie was hitched. He raced for the hills, but halted when Maudie whinnied for help as clearly, Ryan says, as if she had been gifted with speech. He hurried back, cut her harness, and together they made for the hills. Ryan stumbled and fell just as the huge mass of water and pulp wood was bearing down on him. Maudie missed him, ran back to his side, and Ryan mounted her. She carried him safely above the water-line.

"I would have deserted my old pal in a mighty sneaky way," Ryan said, with tears in his eyes. "I guess she thought that the old man was getting old and sort of forgetting all about her, so she just up and whinnied to remind me I was deserting her. 'I can never forget the look that horse gave me when I heard her whinny and turned. It was the most reproachful look I ever saw, not baring human beings.

"And if I have to work until I croak, that horse is never going to do any more work. She saved my life, and a vacation for life is going to be her reward."

"The heroes in 'Maudie's' kingdom do not command much attention because they are so unobtrusive and yet they represent a great army of uncompensated sufferers, more heroic than the men who own the land frequently more intelligent.

"The humane societies of the land are doing much to relieve suffering in the animal kingdom, but only a little of what is necessary, and abuses and neglect will go on until men learn to be merciful to the denizens of the helpless realm, who render service without reward and often without appreciation.

It rarely happens that everybody is pleased with the results of an election, but that seems to be the case just now. The president expresses satisfaction. La Follette finds encouragement. The socialists are jubilant. The democratic party regards itself as already in possession. Willie Woodrow Wilson, Champ Clark, Wm. J. Bryan and several other patriots are waiting for a chance to serve the people. There's nothing like being happy when everybody joins in.

Bishop Moore of the Methodist church is defendant in a $50,000 libel suit brought by a Mrs. Cope of Kansas. The lady, in her zeal for missionary work, organized an independent society for the purpose of securing a $10,000 bequest and the bishop wrote a letter intimating that the church would never see the money. Another case of too much letter writing.

The revolutions now going on in the old world put to blush the history of the dark ages for deeds of atrocity. The Red Cross workers are ignored, and women and children are slaughtered without mercy. The boxer riots were nothing compared to the present uprising. Conditions in Tripoli are not much better. The work of civilization is still in its infancy in these benighted lands.

The defeat of the debauched party in New Jersey puts Woodrow Wilson out of the running for president. Champ Clark is still in the limelight, but he talks too much, and Harmon seems to be the most promising candidate. If the nation is to have four years of democracy the leaders should bring out a level-headed conservative, and this will doubtless be done.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

(Copyrighted 1911, by C. N. Mather.)

ACCORDING TO UNCLE ABNER.

It is about time to begin to hear from long lost relatives and to save up for Christmas presents.

Frank Lucas has received a letter from his son, Willie who is at Illinois college this winter taking a course in broad jumping and hammer throwing. Willie says he has got into football and is playing on the right end. Frank says he is glad of that, for from what he has observed a good many of 'em play it on the wrong end, and land on their heads.

Grandma Perkins has been barred out'n polite society in our town becauz she smokes a pipe, but she says, by golly, she may smoke a pipe, but she ain't never kissed a poodle dog yit.

Miss Euphemia Perkins, our poetess of passion, has wrote a great poem which she expects to get published in one of the 35-cent magazines before she does. We know it is a great poem becauz nobody kin tell what it is about.

Ame Hinkler has lived in this town forty years and ain't never rode on a railroad train or seen 'Sis Hopkins.'

It don't never pay to make fun of anybody's religion or criticize the way a fellow lifts his hair cut. A fellow's religion and his hair are two subjects that is very close to life.

Since Grandma Perkins has had the creepin' paralysis he has had to go around on his hands and knees.

THE SADDEST WORDS.

The saddest words of pen or tongue they claim are these: "It might have been."

But I do not agree that they are. A saddest that have come my way. More melancholy ones I hear. Quite often as I pound my ear, The words are these: "Got up, you lost, The doggone furnace fire is out."

THE SONG OF THE HOOKWORM.

Hook, hook, hook. On that old tight gown. Oh, gosh! If I only dared to utter The thoughts that arise in me. Hook, hook, hook.

We are late wherever we go. It's been years since I have seen The first act of my show. Hook, hook, hook.

From the bottom up to the top It seems like a good long mile With never a chance to stop. Hook, hook, hook.

With fingers weary and worn With temper that's sour and do-pressed And nails that are twisted and torn. Hook, hook, hook.

We get it all done and then We find that we are started wrong And must do it all again. Hook, hook, hook.

I hope that before I die I get just one crack at the nutt Who invented the hook and eye.

WHEN FATHER GOT A COLD.

He's as good as a dummy and he thinks he's going to die.

No one else seems to be worried and he valdly wonders why.

Where there should be tears and sadness, everything is light and gay And it sort of proves the patient who's about to pass away.

It is naught but base ingratitude for them to treat him thus And it's very strange that no one seems inclined to make a fuss.

He demands all the attention that the home folks can bestow But it's hard to see them happy when they would be bowed in woe.

Guess they do not seem to realize that no one ever had in the centuries of history a cold one half as bad.

It requires the patient efforts of a family of five Just to bolster up the spirits and to keep the man alive.

Every time he coughs a little and no body starts to cry. He becomes straitlacedly indignant and he plainly asks them why.

He is of the firm conviction every sneeze will be his last And he starts to ramblin' on the record of the past.

Then he worries lest the doctor will be fifteen minutes late And accuses all the relatives of glottin' o'er his fate.

With heart bowed down in deepest grief, he sits and holds his head And says we will all probably be glad when he is dead.

He looks up his life insurance and sits down and writes his

BAKER CASE ENDED; JURY IS ADJOURNED

Judge instructs Jury to Find for Defendant—Jury Adjourned Until Tomorrow Afternoon.

Final arguments were made in the case of Joseph Zvolanek vs. the Baker Manufacturing Company of Evansville this morning and at the close Judge Grimm instructed the jury to find in favor of the defendant, laying the costs on the plaintiff. The suit was brought by the plaintiff to secure $845 alleged to have been due him according to the profit sharing system which is used by that company with their employees.

The jury was adjourned this morning until tomorrow afternoon, owing to the fact that a large number of the cases had been settled out of court, leaving the case of Raymond E. Timmon vs. the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, the next case on the calendar as it was necessary to await the arrival of attorneys from Milwaukee.

This suit was brought by the plaintiff for injuries alleged to have been done him by the company's switch engine in this city when he was hit by the same about a year ago. He alleges to have suffered the loss of his right leg and other injuries in the accident for which he seeks $25,000 in damages.

MR. AND MRS. H. A. VAHN ARE SURPRISED BY MANY FRIENDS

Seventy-five friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Vahn last evening at their home 521 Lincoln Street, on the occasion of their seventeenth wedding anniversary. The guests were presented with a beautiful piece of cut glass. A very enjoyable evening was spent at the Vahn home and the party broke up amid the hearty congratulations of those present.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Delay in Street Work: Today's rains occasioned another delay in the paving of North Academy street, a serious matter considering the lateness of the season. The work, which is subject to interference by frost, is, however, nearly completed. The contest between the street railway lines is finished and another day's time will be sufficient to get the grade in condition. A catch basin with sewer connections is being put in at the intersection of Academy and Wall streets in order to drain the water from the rail grooves. Now rails are now being laid across the Northwest corner tracks.

Marriage Licenses: Two marriage licenses were issued at the office of the county clerk today to Henry A. Silvers and Martha R. Little, both of Clinton; and Albert W. Kitzman of Broadhead and Elsie Reuther of the town of Aven.

SPECIAL DEMONSTRATION

On Second Floor, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, of the McGilvary Lock-Stitch Ripper.

Next to the sewing machine, this attachment is the greatest boon that has come to the woman who sews. It makes it possible for her to rip on the sewing machine as fast and easily as she can sew. It saves material, time, and temper. Its price is one dollar, which, invested in this ripper, will buy you more comfort than you can get with your dollar in any other manner. Second floor, take elevator.

PROVE POPULARITY OF SKATING RINK

Large Crowd of Skaters at West Side Rink Last Evening For Season's Opening.

Roller skating promises to be as popular a sport and pastime this winter as ever. If the crowds which swarmed the West Side rink last evening for the formal opening are any criterion, Manager Jack Ward had his hands full seeing that everyone had a good time and for the first time in the rink for the winter, there was no sport for those who watched as well as those skating. The flower city band furnished the musical inspiration and the Nineteen Eleven and Twelve roller season was formally introduced. Later in the season fancy skaters, races and basketball games will be special features.

TURNKEY KEMP FOILS ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Subdues Two Prisoners Who Attempted to Overpower Him and Break Out of Jail.

Turnkey Philo Kemp, through presence of mind and the use of his goodly supply of brawn, was able to prevent the escape of two of his prisoners from the county jail Tuesday night. The men who attempted to get away were McConnell, a prisoner sentenced from Edgerton, and Ferguson, sentenced from Deloit. Their plan, it appears, was to catch the turnkey unawares, overpower him, secure his keys and open the doors. But in this they were disappointed; Kemp was a match for them both. One showed the white feather and the other gave way to the turnkey's superior strength and well aimed blows.

To Purify Water.
To purify water sprinkle a tablespoonful of pulverized alum into a boghead of water (the water to be stirred at the same time). It will alter a few hours, by precipitating to the bottom the impure particles, so purify the water that it will be found to possess nearly all the freshness and clearness of spring water. A pall containing four gallons may be purified by a teaspoonful of alum.—National Magazine.

REASONS WHY

You should invest your surplus money in MORTGAGE LOANS and not in bond issues.
Millions of dollars in bonds have been repudiated.
Interest rates are too low for you to investigate bond issues.
Too much time is required to investigate the legality of bond issues.
In case of default on municipal bonds years are required to recover judgment.
If you are a citizen of the community you help to pay your own security. If you buy a mortgage loan you own the property on one only condition—that the debt is paid when due.
In case of default you get your security in a short space of time, without further expense to you.
In case of mortgage loan the investment is direct and simple and is subject to your control.

THOUSANDS OF VOTES DELUGE PRIZE CAMPAIGN DEPARTMENT

INTEREST NOT CONFINED TO THIS STATE—SCORES OF LETTERS RECEIVED DAILY.

OVER SIX WEEKS STILL REMAIN

TIME FOR EACH CANDIDATE TO BECOME INTERESTED IN HER CAMPAIGN—FRIENDS PROVING LOYAL.

Saturday evening marks the close of the second week in the great automobile prize campaign now being conducted by The Gazette. Thousands of votes are being cast each day and this event is now demanding the attention of all.

One young lady who called at The Gazette office this morning, related how she had about decided not to become interested in this campaign, but thought she might give it a fair trial. In consequence on the way to the office to have her name withdrawn, she interviewed five of her friends regarding subscriptions to The Gazette. Out of five, three, who were already taking The Gazette, promised to pay in advance and one of the remaining two gave her a year's subscription. By the time this lady reached The Gazette office she was a full-fledged candidate and left her name on the list and asked for a receipt book. This lady has entered into the spirit of the event and recognizes this to be an exceptional opportunity. One thing is certain, she is sure to win, even should she lose out on one of the prizes she will receive the five percent of her collections.

Some of the candidates are wondering where the votes are coming from. This is not hard to understand when you consider the great number of votes that leave The Gazette office each day. Each issue contains thirty-five votes. Multiply this by 6,000 (The Gazette's circulation) and you get 210,000 votes that leave the office daily to say nothing of votes given by subscription payments. The campaign manager is wondering why more of these votes do not come back to the ballot box, where they belong.

This prize campaign is now becoming the all absorbing topic of conversation among The Gazette readers and if you would enjoy any of the valuable prizes offered it is now time for you to locate subscribers in your territory and secure their votes.

Still, this interest is not confined wholly to The Gazette's immediate territory. Many letters are now beginning to be received each day from subscribers living even out of the state. These letters contain coupons and subscription payments and in nearly every instance the request is made to credit the votes. We can not publish all letters received, but the following one received this morning is a fair sample:

Encouraging His Appetite.

When I have any difficulty in getting my boy of three and a half years to eat his food at the table we start a little game. We name each bite for a member of the family or for a little playmate or some place he has been, and it is surprising what an amount he will eat and enjoy.—Harper's Bazar.

Unique Tomb Ornamentation.

Maspero, in his "Dawn of Civilization," tells of a rich Egyptian noble who lived more than 6,000 years ago and whose splendid fruit, flower and vegetable garden, formally plotted and laid out, was described upon his tomb.

Antique.

"Is this antique authentic? Why, monsieur, I can show you the bill of sale from Isaac Gombmuller of Vienna who manufactured it."

One at Least.

She—"You are just like all men; you would not admit that you ever made a mistake to save your life." He—"As if I hadn't told you time and again that the mistake of my life was in marrying you!"

CRANBERRIES RISE;
SHORTAGE IN CROP

Going Up to Twelve Cents Within Next Few Days—New York Apples Rise 25c a Barrel.

Owing to a shortage in the crop local housewives will have to pay more for cranberries in a few days. They have been selling at ten cents a quart ever since they have been on the market but now they will soon be up to twelve dollars a barrel, which will mean a rise of two cents a quart.
This does not seem so terrible when we think that the price of turkey will be lower than usual, and Thanksgiving will still be celebrated in all probability even if cranberries should keep on as they have started.

New York apples have gone up twenty-five cents a barrel on all varieties, though the quality keeps up very well. No other changes appear today.

Her Fault.
A certain Scotch professor was left a widower in his old age. Not very long after he suddenly announced his intention of marrying again, half apologetically, adding: "I never would have thought of it, if Lizzie hadn't died."—Harper's Weekly.

Butting In.
The adopted word "dohut" is from the French. It means butting in, and, adds the Louisville Courier-Journal, paying entrance fees that are often disproportionate to the rewards of arrival.

WEATHER BUREAU
WILLIS L. MOORE, Chief

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The dominant features of the weather map today is the area of low atmospheric pressure in the west.
This stretches from the north Pacific coast across the Rockies and the Plains to the Mississippi Valley. It has been attended by rains in the upper Mississippi valley and northern plains and on the north Pacific coast.

Snow has fallen in the higher regions of the west. An area of high atmospheric pressure, accompanied by extremely cold weather, is pushing southward over the Canadian Rockies.
Temperatures of 8 degrees and 10 degrees below zero prevailed this morning in Alberta and western Saskatchewan.

In the south, the barometer continues low on the Gulf and south Atlantic coasts and there have been general rains in the southeast.
In this vicinity rainy weather will continue tonight and Friday. It will be colder Friday afternoon.

Built on Honor

Every element of style, comfort and wear are secured in Mayer Honorbilt Shoes—they possess distinctive style and are

"ROOTERS"

CALL them rooters or boosters--as you will--but that is what we are turning out of our store every day.
Satisfied customers--enthusiasts about our clothes and our service.
And that accounts for the record breaking way in which we are fitting out the men--young and old--this season, with clothes that suit them.

WITH our complete line of Kuppenheimer suits and overcoats, coupled with our knack of suiting each man with the article that he wants, we are in a position to send you away with a feeling of satisfaction that will make you one of our "rooters"

NEVER before did the styles afford such opportunity for fitting a man with clothes that impart snap and individuality into his get up. Whether your taste runs to the conservative or to the dashing type—in suit or overcoat—we can fit your desire.

IN THE WAY OF SUITS, our opportunity to give you the best of fit and the largest variety of shades was never better. Your taste may run to the blue effects—those new opal blues—or again, the entirely new browns and greys, may be what you have in mind. Be that as it may, we can show you what you are looking for. And they are all in the pure wool fabric. Suits ..... $15 TO $25

Also a great variety of other suits ranging in price from ..... $8 TO $15

THE OVERCOAT is the topping off of all the rest of your get up. You could not do justice to yourself and your appearance in a better way than to wear one of our overcoats. The smart overcoat goes a long way towards making a good impression—and that amounts to something. All of the latest designs and shades are here. Box back, ulster, the belted coat in varying styles—and so on through them all. .... $15 TO $30

MISS MINERVA and WILLIAM GREEN HILL

By FRANCES BOYD CALHOUN

(Copyright by Hally & Britton Co.)

"Now, sir," was the reply; "don't no Mr. (all live here; just no an Aunt Minerva, an' she turns up her nose at anything that wears pants."

"And where could I find your Aunt Minerva?" the stranger's grin was infuriating and agreeable.

"Why, this here's Monday," the little boy exclaimed, "Of course she's at the Aid; all the 'omans' room here goes to the Aid on Monday."

"Your aunt is an old friend of mine," went on the man, "and I knew she was at the Aid. I just wanted to find out if you'd tell the truth about her. Some little boys tell stories, but I am glad to find out you are so truthful. My name is Mr. Algernon Jones and I'm glad to know you, the Shack! Put it there, partner," and the stranger, smiling down from a grimy paw, Billy stammered out a reply that such a pleasant man. If he was such an old friend of his aunt's maybe she would not object to him because he wore pants, he thought. Maybe she might be persuaded to take Mr. Jones for a husband. Billy almost hoped that she would hurry home from the Aid, he wanted to see the two together so.

"Is you much of a churra?" he asked solemnly, "cause if you is you'll huffer cut it out on these premises." Mr. Jones seemed much surprised and hurt at the question.

"An oath never passed these lips," replied the truthful gentleman.

"Can you churra?"

"Churra-churra!" with a reminder-quicker made.

"Hello! Is that you, major? This is me. If you don't want Mr. Algernon Jones to be robbing everything Miss Minerva's got you gotta get a move on and come right this minute. You got to hustle and bring 'bout a million pistols and guns and swords and tomahawks and all the mums you can find and dogs. He's the fiercest robber ever was, and he's already done the Billy to the bath room chair and done eat up 'bout a million cold biscuits, I s'pose. All of us is 'bout to be slow'd. Goodby."

The plump, round gentleman at the other end of the wire heard the amazing message in the utmost confusion and consternation. He frantically rang the telephone again and again but could get no answer from the Garner's home so he put on his hat and walked the short distance to Miss Minerva's house.

Jimmy was waiting to receive him at the front gate, having again eluded Sarah Jane's vigilance.

"Hush!" he whispered mysteriously, "he's in the dining room. Ain't you brought nobody else? Get your pistol and come on."

Mr. Algernon Jones, feeling safe and secure for the next hour and having landed the first of his booty, was in the act of transferring some silver spoons from the sideboard to his pocket when a noise at the dining room door caused him to look in that direction. With an oath he sprang forward, and landed his fist upon the nose of a plump gentleman standing there, bringing a stream of blood and sending him sprawling to the floor. Mr. Jones overturned a big-eyed little boy who was in his way, and walking rapidly in the direction of the railroad, the erstwhile plunderer was seen no more.

Jimmy quickly recovered himself and sprang to his feet. Seeing the blood streaming down the white shirt front of Miss Minerva's unconscious head, he gathered his wife together and took the thread of events again into his own little hands. He flung himself over the fence careless of Sarah Jane this time, mounted a chair and once more rang the telephone.

"Hello! Is that you, Miss Central? This is no some more, Gimme Dr. Sanford's office please."

"Hello! Is that you, doctor? This is no, Mr. Algernon Jones done kill Miss Minerva's beau. He's on 'bout back porch bloody all over. He's hurt the dearest man they is. You'd better come tereckly you can and bring the hourse, and a coffin and a clean shirt and a tombstone. He's wounded me but I ain't dead yet. Goodby."

Dr. Sanford received Jimmy's crazy message in astonishment. He, too, rang the telephone again and again, but could hear nothing more, so he walked down to Miss Minerva's house and rang the door bell. Jimmy opened the door and led the way to the back porch, where the injured man, who had just recovered consciousness, was sitting huddled in a chair.

"What does all this mean? Are you hurt?" asked the doctor as he examined Mr. Jones' victim.

"No, I think I'm all right now," was the reply; "but that second round certainly gave me a severe blow."

Billy, shut up in the bath room and listening to all the noises and confusion, had been scared nearly out of his cent smile, "I can churra like a top."

Jimmy was dying of curiosity, but the gate was too far away for him to do more than catch a word now and then. It was also out of Sarah Jane's visual line, so she knew nothing of the stranger's advent.

"And you're here all by yourself?" inquired Billy's new friend, "And the folks next door, where are they?"

"Mrs. Garner's at the Aid, an' Mr. Garner's gone to Memphis. That is they little boy a-sittin' in they yard on they grass," answered the child.

"I've come to fix your Aunt Minerva's water pipe," said the truth-loving Mr. Jones, "Come, show me the way; I'm the plumber."

"In the bath room?" asked the child. "I didn't know it needed no fixin'."

He led the agreeable plumber through the hall, down the long back porch to the bath room, remarking: "I'll fix watch you work." And he seated himself in the only chair.

Here is where Billy received one of the greatest surprises of his life. The fascinating stranger gazed at him with a rough hand and hissed:

"Don't you dare open your mouth or I'll crack your head open and scatter your brains. I'll eat you alive."

The three, bloodshot eyes, which had seemed so laughing and merry before, now glared into those of the senses. He had kept still as a mouse till now, when thinking he heard friendly voices he yelled out: "Open the door! Open the door!"

"We don't forget Billy," said the little rescuer, as he ran to the bath room door and opened it. He was followed by the doctor, who cut the cords that bound the prisoner.

"Now, William," commanded Dr. Sanford, as they grouped themselves around the stout, plump gentleman in the chair, "begin at the beginning, and let us get at the bottom of this."

"Mr. Algernon Jones he come to the gate," explained the little boy, "an' he say he got to fix the water pipe an' he say he's a plumber. He's a very 'screaky' man, but I don't want Aunt Minerva to marry him, now. I was plump tucked at him an' I just thing I knowed he grabbed holler me an' shoo me like what you see a cat do n' mouse, an' he say—"

"And he'd more'n a million whiskers," interrupted Jimmy, who thought Billy was receiving too much attention, "and he—"

"One at a time," said the doctor.

"Proceed, William."

"An' he say he'll bust my brains out or my head if I holler, an' I ain't a-goin' to holler neither, an' he tie me to a chair an' tie my mouth up an' lock the door—"

"And I come over," said Jimmy, eagerly, "and I run home and I see Mr. Algernon Jones is a robber an' I phoned to Miss Minerva's beau, and if he'd brought what I told him, he wouldn't never get cracked in the face like Mr. Algernon Jones done crack him, and Billy got to all time let robbers in the house so they can knock mums and little boys down."

"While you stand talking here the scoundrel will get away," said the injured man.

"That's so," agreed Dr. Sanford, "so I'll go and find the sheriff."

Sarah Jane's huge form loomed up in the back hall doorway, and she grabbed Jimmy by the arm.

"Yess," she cried, "you gwine take you a nap is yuh, yuh 'cautful enturpiklar. Come on home dis minute."

"Lemme go, Sarah Jane," protested the little boy trying to jerk away from her, "I got to stay here and portee Billy and Miss Minerva's beau, 'cause they's a robber might come back and tie 'em up and make 'em bleed if I ain't here."

"Did Mr. Algernon Jones make all that blood?" asked the awe-stricken little boy gazing in admiration at the victim of Mr. Jones' indignation. "You sho' is a hero to stan' up an' let him knock you down like he done."

DON'T SAY YOU'RE OLD

You Only Feel Old

Digestive organs are weak—don't assimilate food as they used to. Other organs act more slowly and less effectively.

Blood is thin and sluggish. Renewal of strength does not equal the wear and tear of your system. That's what makes you feel old. Nothing in the world will tone up and invigorate those weak, backsliding organs, make rich blood and create strength so quickly as Vinol.

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, simply the medicinal elements of the cod's liver, with the useless nauseating oil eliminated, and tonic iron added. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not make you stronger, feel younger and give you an added interest in life.

Ancient Raiment and Food. Linen breeches were worn by men in 1491 B. C. They also at that period wore embroidered coats, besides bonnets "for glory and for beauty." Succulent cucumbers were eaten by the Egyptians in 1600 B. C. Juicy melons formed a part of their food supply, too, and occasionally they enjoyed a few onions.

Know Thyself. To redeem a world sunk in dishonesty has not been given thee; solely over one man therein thou hast quite absolute uncontrollable power; him redeem, him make honest; it will something, it will be much, and thy life and labor not in vain.—Thomas Carlyle.

CHILDREN INJURED. Ordinary Cathartics and Purgatives and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health-destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associated bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we will sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constipation, except of course when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes of packages, 10 cents, 25 cents, and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Orderlies in Janesville only at our store, The Rexall Store, Smith Drug Co., 14 West Milwaukee St.

The Useful Brush. In good housekeeping a collection of brushes is found to be indispensable. A large-brush made of fiber, for cleaning the sink; a small painter's brush for greasing pans and griddles; a small scrubbing brush for cleaning potatoes and other vegetables, and a flat brush with a narrow back and long flexible bristles for slipping behind radiators to dislodge the dust; a small camel's hair water color brush is also fine to dip in melted chocolate or colored icing for decorating cakes.

Judicial Humorist. Judges on the bench have been assaulted. A litigant once threw an egg at the late Vice-Chancellor Mallin in an English court. The judge had the presence of mind to duck his head, and at the same time he established a reputation as a humorist by remarking that the present must have been intended for his brother Bacon, the vice-chancellor, who was sitting in an adjoining court.

Two Points of View. On one occasion, at a party given by Sir John Mills, Lady Halls rose to play the violin, when to her intense amusement she heard Landsever exclaim: "Good gracious! A woman playing the fiddle!" On the other hand, an old-fashioned nobleman, when he saw a gentleman sit down to the piano, contemptuously remarked: "I wonder if the creature can sew!"

Unprofitable Herolam. Herolam seems to be at a considerable discount in Germany just at present. Four peasants who recently launched a boat on the Lake of Wolzger and rescued some Berlin trippers who were in danger of drowning have been fined two dollars each for trespassing on the lake.

Happy, Happy. Use TIZ

A Marvel For Sore Feet. Acts Right Off.

Sore Feet? Never After Using TIZ—Goodbye sore feet, aching feet, swollen feet, twenty feet, swelling feet, tired feet, foot-ache, corns, callouses and bunions and raw spots.

You've never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

It acts at once and makes the feet feel remarkably fresh and sore-proof.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous excretions which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet. You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

If you don't find all this true after trying a box of TIZ, you can get your money right back.

TIZ is for sale at all drug stores at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent to you free if you wish from Walter Lullier Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.
